

Stop, Start, Continue Resource

Directions:

STOP	START	CONTINUE
Analyze what isn't working. Being able to stop something could make room to start something more creative, relevant, and effective. Consider stopping practices, resources, and curriculums that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• do not have the desired outcome</li> <li>• are impractical</li> <li>• are disliked by the majority</li> <li>• work against a growth mindset</li> <li>• are no longer relevant</li> <li>• go against the vision or mission</li> <li>• lack the resources to ensure success</li> <li>• take too much time with little return on investment</li> <li>• are at the bottom of everyone's to-do list</li> </ul>	What is interesting or new that could lead to positive results? The outcome should be a list of instructional systems that are derived from the team. Giving everyone a chance to ideate will increase buy-in. Review ideas that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• will support desired outcomes</li> <li>• are sustainable</li> <li>• not being done that need to be done</li> <li>• are engaging</li> <li>• align to the mission and desired culture</li> </ul>	What's working? Think about what is going well and what continues to show growth. These should be practices that are identified as yielding positive results. Weigh things that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• are working well</li> <li>• are liked or needed</li> <li>• are relevant</li> <li>• are sustainable</li> <li>• build positive rapport</li> <li>• generate positive student outcomes or data</li> <li>• support new adoptions, curriculum, or technology accessibility</li> <li>• non-negotiables</li> <li>• are efficient</li> </ul>
